About JEANNA

Jeanna Brown's speaking style is engaging, fun, warm yet with a message that will leave you thinking about "how can I make things better for me?"

She played basketball years ago in high school but thinks of life like a ball game. Are you a starter or a bench warmer? Are you making plays or just watching? With her practical approach to life and through stories, success principals and experience she will encourage you to stay in the game.

With over 10 years of speaking, coaching and training experience, Jeanna understands where your audience needs support and delivers techniques, having your audience inspired and motivated to succeed.

Jeanna holds a Bachelor of Art's degree in communication with a focus in business. She is executive producer of Ladies Let's Talk Radio, over 200 episodes. The author of Look and Feel Fabulous Now and co-author of Step Into Your Vision 2.0 – inspirational leaders share their goal setting secrets.
